PASTOR ROBB'S NOTES

PROPHETS: Jeremiah begins with a metaphor of a broken pot, then explains that Judah is broken beyond repair. While false prophets should be ignored and false kings brought down, there is a promise of a good King to come.

WRITINGS: We're close to the end of Job. Elihu rests his case against Job, who maintains his innocence. Finally, from the whirlwind, the LORD responds. It is not going to be fun.

NEW TESTAMENT: The Gospel complete, we now dig into John's letters, which carry many of the same themes and style of writing. Coincidentally, 1 John 3:16 is a particularly poignant verse even if not as memorized as the gospel's counterpart.
